NEISHA CROSLAND FOR DE FERRANTI - FLORIS COLLECTION

A LITTLE SQUARE BOOK OF TILES

Handmade and handpainted, FLORIS is a collection of nine terracotta Neisha Crosland tile designs in 37 colourways, with different shapes and sizes. Florals, curly geometrics and tendrils are applied by hand, at times guided by an intricate stencil. The maker uses a fine bristled brush to capture every little detail. These tiles are further enhanced by their earthy raw looking base - the glazed pattern on this matt finish creates an exuberant tactile effect.

Inspiration:

"For this collection I looked at Spanish tin-glazed earthenware, in particular pharmacy jars of 1450 and bottles, or Refredador as the Spanish called them, from the first half of the 16th Century. Some of them had a lustreware glaze that I particularly liked. There is a soulful, old-world feel to the tiles, also reminiscient of 15th Century Persian and Chinese Ming 7th Century Tang Dynasty, aswell as 3300 BC Neolithic. I wanted the glazes to be as rich as 15th Century old imperial blue and 13th Century celadons, and the neutrals to have the softness of old Neolithic stoneware."
